

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

May 26, 2026

Taxley Reframes Entrepreneur Tax Resolution as a Business Clarity Issue – Not Just an IRS Problem

[Cincinnati, OH – May 26, 2026] Taxley, a tax resolution and business advisory firm founded in 2008 by Enrolled Agent Anisha Bailey, is introducing a more entrepreneur-focused approach to tax resolution – one designed to help business owners understand not only the IRS issue itself, but the broader business pressures surrounding it.

This approach reflects a long-standing concern: roughly half of small businesses do not survive beyond five years, according to U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics data frequently cited by the Small Business Administration and SCORE. Through years of entrepreneur-focused tax resolution work, Bailey says many tax problems are not isolated events, but warning signs of deeper pressure already building within the business.

“By the time the IRS issue surfaces, many entrepreneurs are already navigating cash flow strain, unclear financial visibility, operational stress, and increasing personal responsibility as business owners,” Bailey said.

According to Bailey, many entrepreneurs delay seeking help because they feel overwhelmed, embarrassed, or afraid of being judged. Taxley’s approach was designed to create a more structured and supportive experience focused on clarity before implementation.

“Clarity is the entrepreneur’s competitive advantage,” Bailey said. “When business owners understand what is actually happening financially and operationally, they are in a much stronger position to make sustainable decisions instead of reactive ones.”

As part of the approach, Taxley provides entrepreneurs with a Strategic Evaluation & Business Roadmap designed to help identify financial concerns, operational gaps, compliance risks, and realistic resolution pathways before moving forward with implementation.

The process is grounded in Taxley’s CentsableCEO™ Framework, which helps entrepreneurs evaluate the financial, operational, leadership, and tax-related responsibilities that influence long-term business sustainability.

“The goal is not simply resolving tax problems or increasing revenue,” Bailey said. “The goal is protecting entrepreneurs while equipping them with the skills needed to build businesses that can sustain increasing complexity, responsibility, and operational demands over time.”

About Taxley

Taxley is a tax resolution and business advisory firm founded by Anisha Bailey, EA, MSEL. The firm works with entrepreneurs and closely held businesses nationwide, specializing in IRS and state tax resolution, strategic business advisory, and structured decision-making support designed to help business owners navigate financial and operational complexity with greater clarity and structure.

Media Contact

Russ Bailey | Chief of Staff to the CEO
Taxley
media@taxley.com
www.taxley.com